² The MSCI All Country World Index is a free float-adjusted market capitalization weighted index that is designed to measure the equity market performance of developed and emerging markets. The MSCI ACWI Growth Index captures large and mid cap securities exhibiting overall growth style characteristics across 23 Developed Markets (DM) countries and 23 Emerging Markets (EM) countries. The growth investment style characteristics for index construction are defined using five variables: long-term forward EPS growth rate, short-term forward EPS growth rate, current internal growth rate and long-term historical EPS growth trend and long-term historical sales per share growth trend. The MSCI ACWI Value Index captures large and mid cap securities exhibiting overall value style characteristics across 23 Developed Markets countries and 23 Emerging Markets (EM) countries. The value investment style characteristics for index construction are defined using three variables: book value to price, 12-month forward earnings to price and dividend yield. With 1,298 constituents, the index targets 50% coverage of the free float-adjusted market capitalization of the MSCI ACWI Index. The S&P 500 Index is a registered trademark of S&P and is an unmanaged broadly-based index of the common stock prices of 500 large U.S. companies, and includes the reinvestment of dividends. The MSCI Emerging Markets (EM) Index captures large and mid-cap representation across 24 Emerging Markets (EM) countries. With 846 constituents, the index covers approximately 85% of the free float-adjusted market capitalization in each country. The NASDAQ Composite Index is the market capitalization-weighted index of approximately 3,000 common equities listed on the Nasdaq stock exchange. The types of securities in the index include American depositary receipts, common stocks, real estate investment trusts (REITs) and tracking stocks, as well as limited partnership interests. The index includes all Nasdaq-listed stocks that are not derivatives, preferred shares, funds, exchange-traded funds (ETFs) or debenture securities. The MSCI China Index captures large and mid cap representation across China H shares, B shares, Red chips, P chips and foreign listings (e.g. ADRs). With 153 constituents, the index covers about 85% of this China equity universe. The MSCI Euro Index captures large cap representation across the 10 Developed Markets countries in the European Monetary Union. With 123 constituents, the index covers approximately 70% of the free float-adjusted market capitalization of the EMU. The Nikkei 225 Stock Average Index is a price-weighted average of 225 top-rated Japanese companies listed in the First Section of the Tokyo Stock Exchange, excluding ETFs, REITs, preferred equity contribution securities, and tracking stocks (on subsidiary dividend) etc. other than common stocks. Sources of foreign exchange rates may be different between a portfolio and the benchmarks. The indexes mentioned above are unmanaged and not available for direct investment. For comparison purposes, it should be noted that the indexes do not charge fees and have no expenses.

1Q18 Commentary

Global equity markets rode a wild roller coaster in the first quarter of 2018. Enthusiasm for recently implemented U.S. tax cuts propelled U.S. equity indices sharply higher early in the quarter. This in turn lifted U.S. interest rates, but was met by a falling U.S. dollar. Domestic market momentum spilled over into shares in emerging markets which rose at near double-digit rates.

Later in the quarter, however, fears of a "global trade war" and concerns about technology company breaches of user data privacy catalyzed a broad sell-off. Many of the global indices, excluding the tech-heavy NASDAQ Composite Index², finished the quarter modestly down.

For the quarter, the S&P 500 Index² fell by -0.76% while the NASDAQ Composite Index rose by +2.59%. Meanwhile, the MSCI Euro Index² fell by -0.42% and the Nikkei² fell by -5.14% (in local currency). The relative underperformance of Europe and Japan reflects the fact that U.S. shares rose much more dramatically early in the quarter.

The MSCI Emerging Markets Index² followed a pattern similar to U.S. shares, registering a +1.42% gain for the quarter. Chinese shares fared worse (MSCI China Index² fell -1.63% in local currency), no doubt reflecting the announcement of proposed U.S. tariffs on a number of Chinese products, which came late in the quarter.

In terms of the underlying dynamics of equity market performance, growth-oriented stocks had the upper hand and outperformed their value counterparts as the MSCI ACWI Growth Index² and the MSCI ACWI Value Index² posted returns of 0.67% and -2.62%, respectively.

The Marsico Global Fund posted a return of 6.37% for the first quarter and outperformed its benchmark, the MSCI All Country World Index², which returned -0.96%.

Primary Contributors⁵:

An overweight allocation and stock selection in the strong-performing Information Technology sector⁸ were the primary drivers of performance during the period. The Fund also benefitted from stock selection in the Consumer Discretionary sector. Stock selection was strong in the Industrials and Health Care sectors as well.

Primary Detractors⁵:

Stock selection in the Energy sector detracted from performance during the period.

Investments in foreign securities generally, and emerging markets in particular, may be riskier than U.S. investments for a variety of reasons such as, without limitation, unstable international, political and economic conditions, currency fluctuations, foreign controls on investment and currency exchange, foreign governmental control of some issuers, potential confiscatory taxation or nationalization of companies by foreign governments, sovereign solvency considerations, withholding taxes, a lack of adequate company information, less liquid and more volatile exchanges and/or markets, ineffective or detrimental government regulation, and other factors. In addition, the Fund and the stocks and markets in which it invests are subject to other general risks that include volatility and instability, periods of cyclical change and decline, that investors may at times avoid investments in equity securities, and that the investment adviser may select investments for the Fund that do not perform as anticipated.

³ Lipper Inc., A Reuters Company, is a nationally recognized organization that measures the performance of mutual funds within a universe of funds that have similar investment objectives. ⁴ As of the Fund's 1/31/18 prospectus; 1.80% gross, 1.50% net. Marsico Capital Management, LLC, the investment adviser to the Fund (the "Adviser"), has entered into a written expense limitation and fee waiver agreement under which it has agreed to limit the total expenses of the Global Fund (excluding taxes, interest, acquired fund fees and expenses, litigation, extraordinary expenses, brokerage and other transaction expenses relating to the purchase or sale of portfolio investments) to an annual rate of 1.50% of the Fund's average net assets until January 31, 2019. This expense limitation and fee waiver agreement may be terminated by the Adviser at any time after January 31, 2019 upon 15 days prior notice to the Fund and its administrator, provided that no such modification will be made in a manner inconsistent with the terms of the current prospectus. The Adviser may recoup from the Fund fees previously waived or expenses previously reimbursed by the Adviser with respect to that Fund pursuant to this agreement (or a previous expense limitation agreement) if: (1) such recoupment by the Adviser does not cause the Fund, at the time of recoupment, to exceed the lesser of (a) the expense limitation in effect at the time the relevant amount was waived and/or reimbursed, or (b) the expense limitation in effect at the time of the proposed recoupment, and (2) the recoupment is made within three years after the fiscal year end date as of which the amount to be waived or reimbursed was determined and the waiver or reimbursement occurred.
