<sup>2</sup> The MSCI EAFE Index is a free float-adjusted market capitalization index that is designed to measure the equity market performance of developed markets, excluding the U.S. and Canada. The MSCI EAFE Growth Index captures large and mid-cap securities exhibiting overall growth style characteristics across Developed Markets countries around the world, excluding the US and Canada. The growth investment style characteristics for index construction are defined using five variables: long-term forward EPS growth rate, short-term forward EPS growth rate, current internal growth rate and long-term historical EPS growth trend and long-term historical sales per share growth trend. The MSCI EAFE Value Index captures large and mid-cap securities exhibiting overall value style characteristics across Developed Markets countries around the world, excluding the US and Canada. The value investment style characteristics for index construction are defined using three variables: book value to price, 12-month forward earnings to price and dividend yield. The S&P 500 Index is a registered trademark of S&P and is an unmanaged broadly-based index of the common stock prices of 500 large U.S. companies, and includes the reinvestment of dividends. The MSCI Emerging Markets (EM) Index captures large and mid-cap representation across 24 Emerging Markets (EM) countries. With 846 constituents, the index covers approximately 85% of the free float-adjusted market capitalization in each country. The NASDAQ Composite Index is the market capitalization-weighted index of approximately 3,000 common equities listed on the Nasdaq stock exchange. The types of securities in the index include American depositary receipts, common stocks, real estate investment trusts (REITs) and tracking stocks, as well as limited partnership interests. The index includes all Nasdaq-listed stocks that are not derivatives, preferred shares, funds, exchange-traded funds (ETFs) or debenture securities. The MSCI China Index captures large and mid cap representation across China H shares, B shares, Red chips, P chips and foreign listings (e.g. ADRs). With 153 constituents, the index covers about 85% of this China equity universe. The MSCI Euro Index captures large cap representation across the 10 Developed Markets countries in the European Monetary Union. With 123 constituents, the index covers approximately 70% of the free float-adjusted market capitalization of the EMU. The Nikkei 225 Stock Average Index is a price-weighted average of 225 top-rated Japanese companies listed in the First Section of the Tokyo Stock Exchange, excluding ETFs, REITs, preferred equity contribution securities, and tracking stocks (on subsidiary dividend) etc. other than common stocks. Sources of foreign exchange rates may be different between a portfolio and the benchmarks. The indexes mentioned above are unmanaged and not available for direct investment. For comparison purposes, it should be noted that the indexes do not charge fees and have no expenses.

The International Opportunities Fund may, at times, experience higher-than-average portfolio turnover which may generate significant taxable gains and increased trading expenses which in turn may lower the Fund's return.

1Q18 Commentary

Global equity markets rode a wild roller coaster in the first quarter of 2018. Enthusiasm for recently implemented U.S. tax cuts propelled U.S. equity indices sharply higher early in the quarter. This in turn lifted U.S. interest rates, but was met by a falling U.S. dollar. Domestic market momentum spilled over into shares in emerging markets which rose at near double-digit rates.

Later in the quarter, however, fears of a "global trade war" and concerns about technology company breaches of user data privacy catalyzed a broad sell-off. Many of the global indices, excluding the tech-heavy NASDAQ Composite Index<sup>2</sup>, finished the quarter modestly down.

For the quarter, the S&P 500 Index<sup>2</sup> fell by -0.76% while the NASDAQ Composite Index rose by +2.59%. Meanwhile, the MSCI Euro Index<sup>2</sup> fell by -0.42% and the Nikkei<sup>2</sup> fell by -5.14% (in local currency). The relative underperformance of Europe and Japan reflects the fact that U.S. shares rose much more dramatically early in the quarter.

The MSCI Emerging Markets Index<sup>2</sup> followed a pattern similar to U.S. shares, registering a +1.42% gain for the quarter. Chinese shares fared worse (MSCI China Index<sup>2</sup> fell -1.63% in local currency), no doubt reflecting the announcement of proposed U.S. tariffs on a number of Chinese products, which came late in the quarter.

In terms of the underlying dynamics of equity market performance, while both growth and value declined in the quarter, growth-oriented stocks outperformed value stocks as the MSCI EAFE Growth Index<sup>2</sup> and the MSCI EAFE Value Index<sup>2</sup> posted returns of -1.04% and -2.03%, respectively.

The Marsico International Opportunities Fund posted a return of 3.36% for the first quarter and outperformed its benchmark, the MSCI EAFE Index<sup>2</sup>, which returned -1.53%.

Primary Contributors<sup>5</sup>:

Stock selection and an overweight allocation in the Information Technology sector<sup>8</sup> was the primary driver of performance during the period. The Fund also benefitted from stock selection in the Financials and Industrials sectors.

Primary Detractors<sup>5</sup>:

Stock selection in the Consumer Discretionary and Consumer Staples sectors was a detractor from performance during the period.

Investments in foreign securities generally, and emerging markets in particular, may be riskier than U.S. investments for a variety of reasons such as, without limitation, unstable international, political and economic conditions, currency fluctuations, foreign controls on investment and currency exchange, foreign governmental control of some issuers, potential confiscatory taxation or nationalization of companies by foreign governments, sovereign solvency considerations, withholding taxes, a lack of adequate company information, less liquid and more volatile exchanges and/or markets, ineffective or detrimental government regulation, and other factors. In addition, the Fund and the stocks and markets in which it invests are subject to other general risks that include volatility and instability, periods of cyclical change and decline, that investors may at times avoid investments in equity securities, and that the investment adviser may select investments for the Fund that do not perform as anticipated.
