4Q17 Commentary

In the final quarter of 2017, global financial markets were dominated by U.S. equity market strength driven by expectations of a major reduction in corporate tax liabilities. Domestic GDP strengthened a bit, and employment gains rebounded. Bond yields climbed modestly, the dollar moved sideways, and commodity prices rose in dollar terms.

For the quarter, the S&P 500 Index<sup>2</sup> advanced +6.64% and the NASDAQ Composite Index<sup>2</sup> rose by +6.55%, capping a powerful year of gains for U.S. share prices. Although foreign shares generally performed well during the year, equities in Europe struggled during the quarter, with the MSCI Euro Index<sup>2</sup> falling by -1.12% (EUR). In contrast, Asian shares did well, with Japanese shares leaping +12.00% (YEN), as measured by the Nikkei 225 Stock Average Index<sup>2</sup>. The MSCI China Index<sup>2</sup> was up +7.62%, and other emerging market shares, in general, also were quite strong, with a quarterly gain of +7.44% for the MSCI Emerging Market Index<sup>2</sup>.

In terms of the underlying dynamics of equity market performance, Growth stocks outperformed value stocks as the MSCI EAFE Growth Index<sup>2</sup> and the MSCI EAFE Value Index<sup>2</sup> posted returns of 5.24% and 3.24%, respectively.

The Marsico International Opportunities Fund posted a return of 4.82% for the fourth quarter, outperforming its benchmark, the MSCI EAFE Index<sup>2</sup>, which returned 4.23%.

Primary Detractors<sup>5</sup>:

Stock selection and an overweight allocation in the Information Technology sector<sup>8</sup> was the primary driver of performance during the period. The Fund also benefitted from stock selection in the Financials and Industrials sectors.

Primary Contributors<sup>5</sup>:

Stock selection in the Health Care and Consumer Staples sectors was the largest detractor from performance during the period. Lack of exposure to the Materials and Energy sectors, the strongest-performing sectors of the benchmark index had a negative impact on performance.

Investments in foreign securities generally, and emerging markets in particular, may be riskier than U.S. investments for a variety of reasons such as, without limitation, unstable international, political and economic conditions, currency fluctuations, foreign controls on investment and currency exchange, foreign governmental control of some issuers, potential confiscatory taxation or nationalization of companies by foreign governments, sovereign solvency considerations, withholding taxes, a lack of adequate company information, less liquid and more volatile exchanges and/or markets, ineffective or detrimental government regulation, and other factors. In addition, the Fund and the stocks and markets in which it invests are subject to other general risks that include volatility and instability, periods of cyclical change and decline, that investors may at times avoid investments in equity securities, and that the investment adviser may select investments for the Fund that do not perform as anticipated.
